Mayor credits Moravian Village residents for their impact

There are a lot of people in this room that I need to thank."

Those words echoed several times from Bethlehem Mayor William Reynolds to the crowd of nearly 100 residents at Moravian Village of Bethlehem May 3.

After just four months in office, and on the heels of delivering his first State of the City address, Reynolds made Moravian Village of Bethlehem, just one mile from Historic Bethlehem, one of his first community stops where he shared his passion and plan for the City of Bethlehem.

"We were very pleased to have the mayor as one of our first community speakers since the pandemic hit," said Nancy Disario, a resident of Market Street Cottages at Moravian Village of Bethlehem and co-chair of the Cottage Activities Committee. "One of the main goals of our Activities Committee is to have more educational programming and community speakers."

For Dr. Lona Farr, a Market Street Cottages resident and co-chair of the Cottage Activities Committee, it was a special day.

"I hope I speak for everyone when I say how grateful we are that the mayor took his very valuable time and made us feel like we are a very important part of the city," Farr said.

Reynolds' teachers throughout his education, from elementary to middle school and through high school.

The mayor gave a nod to Pat Lowman, a Market Street Cottages resident. Lowman

McNeill's Westgate Senior Fair May 20

State Rep. Jeanne McNeill's annual Spring Senior Fair will be held from 9 a.m. to noon Friday at the Westgate Mall.

The free event, which McNeill is co-sponsoring with state Sen. Lisa Boscola, is expected to include more than 50 different vendors and will offer blood pressure screenings, vision checks, giveaways, refreshments and more.

According to McNeill, the annual event hasn't been held in two years because of the pandemic.

"I'm proud to again partner with Senator Boscola to bring this wonderful event to our community," McNeill said. "We've opted to utilize a different location than in years past. The Westgate Mall offers ample space, plenty of free parking and is accessible by LANTA bus route 105, which stops nearby on Westgate Drive, making it a great venue and event for our community and seniors."

Any organization that would like to participate should contact Damaris Garcia in McNeill's office at 610.266.1273 or email at dgarcia@pahouse.net.

"A Glimpse Through Glass" is the inaugural exhibition of Historic Bethlehem Museums & Sites' new curator of collections and exhibitions, Brett Peters. "I'm thrilled that my first exhibit at HBMS is centered on glass," Peters says. "It's an incredibly versatile material, and that has allowed me to explore interesting topics and avenues. It's been so great to get more familiar with the Lehigh Valley's many enthusiastic collectors and talented glass artists. I'm excited for visitors to see the exhibit and get hands-on with an historically hands-off material!" The exhibition kicked off with an opening reception April 28 with the featured artists and will run through Aug. 28. proud of him but not surprised at how well he's done," Lowman said. "He was an excellent student, a very nice young man, and highly motivated."

For Jack Burke, Moravian Village apartment resident and former principal and administrator in Bethlehem Area School District, it was a proud day to see the mayor, whom Burke know has since Reynolds was in second grade at Thomas Jefferson ES.

"It was great to see where he is at today," Burke said. "He knows the city and understands the people. I think he will be a very good mayor."

Burke's wife, Pat

Burke, also a Moravian Village apartment resident, was a reading specialist and head of the reading program at Thomas Jefferson ES, and remembers Reynolds fondly from when he was a student there.

"To think that I know someone since he is five years old that became the mayor," Pat Burke said. "I am just so proud of him. He really came a long way."

Reynolds went on to give the residents of Moravian Village a clear picture of where the City of Bethlehem is today and where he and his administration plan to take it.

"There has never been a more exciting time to live in Bethlehem," he said, as he thanked the residents of Moravian Village once again, for all they have done in their careers and lifetime to make Bethlehem what it is today. "I need to say thank you to you who have built institutions that make my life easier."

After presenting on the various administrative initiatives that he has put in place in his new role, Reynolds opened the floor for a thorough question and answer session.

One resident asked for the mayor's administration to allow interested residents of Moravian Village to participate in whatever community initiatives and volunteering that the city might need assistance with.

"At Moravian Village we have a lot of talent," said Don Quayle, a Moravian Village apartment resident and president of the Apartment Resident Council. "Can you put us to use?"

Reynolds was quick to convey that his administration is ready to set something up for Moravian Village residents to join the cause in helping the community of Bethlehem.

"I look at how active and involved people are that live here [at Moravian Village]," Reynolds said to the crowd. "This should serve as a model for other facilities like this in the community."

In closing, Reynolds once again gave gratitude to the residents.

"Bethlehem is what it is because of the pride we have," he said.

"There is no place like Bethlehem."

 21 in 2020 and 14 in 2019. Three were unrestrained and four were riding motorcycles. There were no pedestrian deaths.

Schuylkill County had 26 traffic deaths in 2021, compared to 13 in 2020 and 22 in 2019. Ten victims were unrestrained and six were riding motorcycles. There was one pedestrian death.

"Safety on our roadways is a shared responsibility," said PennDOT Secretary Yassmin Gramian. "Whether you are a driver, passenger, pedestrian or bicyclist, we can all do our part to prevent crashes and fatalities. Buckle up every time you are in a vehicle. Always cross the road at an intersection or crosswalk. Always wear a helmet when riding a motorcycle or bicycle. Never drive, ride, or walk impaired or distracted. Let's work together to reduce traffic deaths, because even one fatality is one too many."

Safety plan

Pennsylvania's updated 2022 Strategic Highway Safety Plan sets the groundwork for progressing "Toward Zero Deaths" by focusing on both infrastructure-based strategies and behavior change to reduce the frequency and severity of crashes. This is done by implementing roadway designs that emphasize minimizing the risk of injury to all road users, reducing inequities in our transportation network, and using cost-effective, data-driven methods.

The SHSP seeks to substantially reduce traffic related fatalities and serious injuries by addressing several safety focus areas, including three priority emphasis areas: lane departure crashes, impaired driving and pedestrian safety.

A look at crashes

In 2021, fatalities in crashes involving lane departure increased to 596, up from 551 in 2020, accounting for nearly half of highway fatalities across the state. Strategies to combat these crashes are aimed at keeping vehicles on the roadway, within the proper lanes of travel, and include low-cost safety improvements such as center line or shoulder rumble strips, high friction surface treatments, and cable median barriers. Speeding, impaired and distracted driving are leading factors in lane departure crashes; therefore, behavioral safety efforts are equally important.

Fatalities in crashes involving impaired driving decreased from 471 in 2020 to 450 in 2021. While impaired driving fatalities have decreased over the last 15 years, they remain high, accounting for more than 35 percent of fatalities in 2021. Impaired driving consists of a driver under the effect of alcohol, drugs, medication, or any combination of those. Driving while impaired by any substance (legal or illegal) puts all roadway users in harm's way. Pennsylvania takes a proactive approach to combat impaired driving, focused on enforcement and educational programs as a means of prevention, as well as legislative efforts and emerging technologies to aid in detection.

Pedestrian fatalities increased to 182, up from 146 in 2020. Pedestrian fatalities accounted for 15 percent of fatalities statewide in 2021. Active transportation is on the rise and being promoted across all areas of the state from urban centers to small rural towns, resulting in increased pedestrian activity, making collisions with motor vehicles more likely. PennDOT is making accommodations for active transportation, a routine and integral element of planning, project development, design, construction, operations, and maintenance.

"Transportation needs to work for everyone - no matter who you are, no matter how you travel," said Gramian. "We continue to work with our partners to decrease fatalities through educational outreach, the latest innovations, effective enforcement, and low-cost safety improvements."

Other crashes

Other crash types with notable increases in fatalities in 2021 include:

- Crashes involving a 16- to 17-year-old driver - 45 fatalities, up from 26 in 2020.
- Crashes involving aggressive driving - 126 fatalities, up from 91 in 2020.
- Motorcyclist fatalities - 226, up from 217 in 2020.
- Crashes involving heavy trucks - 156 fatalities, up from 122 in 2020.
- Unrestrained fatalities - 378, up from 348 in 2020.

According to national data, driver behavior is a factor in more than 90 percent of crashes. PennDOT focuses on data trends to drive enforcement and education improvements and invests about $19 million annually statewide to support these behavioral safety programs.

PennDOT also focuses on infrastructure improvements to roadways in an effort to further reduce fatalities and serious injuries.

Approximately $450 million in Federal Highway Safety Improvement Program funds has been invested in 328 unique safety projects from 2017 to 2021.

During that same time frame, another $50 million of state funds was invested in low-cost safety improvements at thousands of locations. Low-cost safety measures include centerline and edge-line rumble strips and high friction surface treatments.

 Special to The Press

Anthony Rossi was sworn in during Hanover Township, Lehigh County, Council's May 4 meeting.

Rossi presented a short speech to the board explaining his residency and priorities in the township before taking his official oath. Council gave its full approval and invited Rossi to join council to finish the rest of the meeting.

The meeting continued with members of the recreation board approaching council with a proposed plan to sell alcohol at the community event later in the summer. The representatives explained they wish to have a local brewery and winery sell their products for consumption, in order to increase attendance at the summer event, but the board would need council's approval in order to move forward.

Council members were hesitant for a few reasons, such as obtaining proper licenses and general safety. They requested the recreation board gather some more information on insurance possibilities and who exactly would be selling the alcohol before making a decision.

In other matters, council voted to sponsor fingerprinting at the Community Days event. The activity brought a lot of attention last year, and Township Manager Melissa Wehr was looking to have council sponsor it again. The motion passed with four votes and one abstention from Robert Heimbecker, who serves a role with the fingerprinting service.

Council also voted to join and show support to the Pennsylvania Commission for the United States Semiquincentennial, also known as the America250PA. The commission was established in 2018 to plan, encourage and develop a commemoration for the 250th anniversary of the founding of the United States and Pennsylvania's star role in that event. The 250th anniversary will take place in 2026.

The meeting closed with Vice Chairman Michael Woolley proposing a motion to be added to the next meeting's agenda that would change the street name coming into the township building to Paulus Way. Woolley explained this would be to honor Chairman Bruce Paulus and Barb Paulus for all of the work they have done to serve their community. Bruce Paulus appeared to be left speechless and humbled by the honor.

More information on this topic will be discussed at the next council meeting, set for 7:30 p.m. May 18 at the municipal building, 2202 Grove Road. To view the agenda ahead of time, visit hanleco.org.

HELLERTOWN

Library 'regionalization' rejected

BY CHRIS HARING
Special to the Bethlehem Press

The May 2 Hellertown Council meeting saw several items of interest addressed, but once again the primary topic was the future of the relationship between the borough, Lower Saucon Township and the Hellertown Area Library (HAL).

Council President Thomas Rieger first apologized to his fellow council members for not initially including them in an informal April 13 summit, organized by Christ Lutheran Church's Rev. Philip J. Spohn, which included borough Mayor David Heintzelman, HAL President Ken Solt and representatives from Lower Saucon Township.

Rieger characterized the meeting as generally unproductive and said Lower Saucon Council President Jason Banonis' proposal to "regionalize" library services (through a hypothetical partnership with the Southern Lehigh Public Library, despite their stated disinterest in pursuing such) was vague and lacking details.

Rieger added that if Lower Saucon's proposal was serious, the municipalities should "do [it] the right way" and establish a formal committee to further discuss and explore other options. Any structural changes to their agreement with HAL - and any other potential partners - should be considered in a "15 month conversation, not a 30 minute [one]," he said.

Other council members expressed their support for Rieger's position, with Gil Stauffer saying "Lower Saucon came to the table with no details... they haven't even paid their [HAL] dues. I don't give it any credibility."

Rieger suggested the borough and library consider closing the metaphorical door on the partnership. He said, "The community needs closure, one way or the other. [HAL] was here before Lower Saucon Township [joined], it'll be here after. The Hellertown community is going to step up."

Ultimately, a formal motion was made by council member Andrew Hughes to decline inclusion in any subsequent negotiations with the township. It was seconded by Stauffer and passed unanimously.

Furthermore, Rieger suggested it was time to "take a hard look at terminating the rest of our relationships" with Lower Saucon, which include inter-municipal agreements like the Saucon Valley Partnership and deals on the Saucon Valley Compost Center and discounted rates for Lower Saucon residents at the Hellertown Pool.

"We've been talking about this now for well over six months [and] it's not getting any better," Rieger said. He continued "at the end of the day our focus should be on our residents." The council then approved a motion to authorize the Solicitor Michael Corriere to explore the formal reconsideration of the various affiliations.

In other news, the Hellertown Pool will soon be a step closer to being ready to welcome patrons this summer, as the council voted to accept a bid of $656,467 from CMG of Easton for improvements to the facility's concessions stand and restrooms.

Council also further discussed a proposal from Fountain Hill officials to allow its residents to purchase Hellertown Pool passes at resident rates, with reimbursement for the difference from the neighboring borough.

Hellertown requested maintenance assistance from Fountain Hill's public works department, but borough Manager Cathy Hartranft said they declined due to legal concerns. However, Fountain Hill countered with an offer for an additional administrative fee instead of manpower, she said, to which Hellertown is asking for an added 10 percent.

Fountain Hill Pantry Project advances

BY JENN RAGO
Special to the Bethlehem Press

The Fountain Hill Pantry Project will have a temporary home at the Fountain Hill ES. Superintendent Dr. Joseph Roy said, "That space under the elementary classrooms will be converted into a temporary home for the food pantry until they can establish their own independent space - and this will be at no cost to the district." Construction will begin once school is out for the summer.

Facilities Director Mark Stein gave a thorough update on the summer renovations planned for Calypso, Freemansburg, and Governor Wolf elementary schools. In the interest of completing the projects before school resumes in the fall relocation of classroom contents and transitioning to virtual learning have begun. Contents of classrooms have been moved off site to help expedite the process.

These schools will receive HVAC renovations that will include old unit ventilators removed, new overhead air handlers, new central chiller plant, new ability to dehumidify, new ceilings and LED lights, painting and new carpeting. Beginning in May, construction will begin after school hours and the last student in person day at these sites will be May 25. Moving crews will arrive May 26. Plans are to complete projects by Aug. 20 and return contents of classrooms at that time in preparation for first day of school, Aug. 29.

The Curriculum Committee had an update from the newly formed office of Equity and Inclusion. Director Dr. Benita Draper and supervisor Eric Fontanez outlined goals and objectives as well as how they plan to evaluate their work as the department develops. Roy said, "The Equity office touches every aspect within the school system." Draper and Fontanez will provide regular updates to the board.

Assistant Superintendent Dr. Jack Silva provided program goals (2022-23 school year) for the Office of Educational Programs. Programs will be divided into five areas each with their own supervision.

Silva will oversee staff, principles and talent development. Dr. Joseph Anthes will oversee art, music, gym, health and social studies. Kimberly Harper will oversee literacy and languages. Mark James will oversee Act 48, blended learning and digital learning.

Lastly, Maureen Leeson will oversee science, business and math.

continue to inspire and motivate Foundation giving. The Foundation will continue supporting causes and organizations that were dear to Diane's heart."

Handling gas pains

The price of gas right now is just insane. When it first started rising, I remembered the downturn of 2008 and the vague recollection of waiting in a gas line when I was a child, and said, it's not so bad.

But this week I did a lot of traveling. I also looked at the price per gallon, multiplied it by the size of my gas tank and cringed.

It is difficult to recover financially after a split. Right now I am chafing at how achingly long it is taking. The price of gas does not help. So I started to think of what I could do to bring in a little more money to help with expenses.

I checked with the horse riding barn where we help out and my sons ride to see if there were more work times available. There were't.

Then I had another thought. Some years ago, not long after the separation, a friend who braided horses for a living offered to teach me to braid manes and tails. At the time, I declined, because I couldn't figure out how I could manage toddler James around horses while working.

I contacted my friend, but she isn't braiding any longer, and lives out of state. So I checked with more of my horsey friends, and found someone who knew someone else on a local farm who could teach me. I had my first lesson recently. James was content with a friendly barn cat to play with and his Nintendo to play on.

I don't think I would braid full time. But I am hoping to get proficient enough to do some horses for shows. Even at a starting rate, at least that will help with gas.

Beyond commuting a short distance for work and necessary errands, my biggest gas expenses are visits to the riding barn and visits to family. These are two things I have no desire to give up. Family is important. And horses are my therapy, as well as something the boys love.

So for now, I let go of my paid lot parking spot, to free up some money each month. And I have skipped on some things like groceries, and accepted some help from my older son, Erick.

I still hope gas prices will fall. But the market for gas is volatile, and there's no way to know when prices will come down.

Please don't blame our politicians for gas prices; they really don't have any more control over them than we do. With the possible exception of Pennsylvania's gas tax, anyway.

Wildfire burns 290 acres in watershed

An April 25 wildfire that appeared to start on Pa. Game Commission land quickly spread to Bethlehem Authority watershed property near Huckleberry Road in Tunkhannock Township, Monroe County.

Local volunteer fire departments responded, but the incident command was taken over by forest fire response personnel from the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources. In addition to the fire fighters on the ground, a DCNR contracted helicopter was used to drop water on the fire and fire retardant on adjacent land to minimize the spread of the fire. Additionally backfires were also started that limited the spread of the fire.

In all, approximately 290 acres of mostly scrub oak and pitch pine were consumed, of which 90 acres was Authority owned watershed property. The water supply for the City of Bethlehem and eleven surrounding municipalities was never impacted by the wildfire. The affected watershed property is part of the back-up water supply for the City.

DCNR crews were still out most of April 26, monitoring the properties for potential flare-ups. On April 27, an investigative team from DCNR was on site to try to determine where and how the fire started. Results of the investigation indicated that the fire was likely intentionally set. No suspects have been identified.

Authority Director Stephen Repasch said some of the property that was burned was actually scheduled for a prescribed burn by the Game Commission and The Nature Conservancy later this summer.

St. Luke's kicks off 150th anniversary

One hundred fifty years ago, a star was born – St. Luke's Hospital!

St. Luke's has been a cornerstone of the Lehigh Valley ever since. The Lehigh Valley's oldest hospital was founded in the spring of 1872 to provide industrial workers, many of them from Bethlehem Steel, with local access to health care, eliminating the long journey to New York or Philadelphia for critical treatment. A century and a half later, St. Luke's continues to honor its commitment to local business and the community – as the Network's iconic star shines as bright as ever.

Today St. Luke's University Health Network is the Lehigh Valley's biggest health care system, and it is the one that wins the most awards for quality, service and affordability. A fully integrated, regional, non-profit system of more than 17,000 employees, it provides services at 14 campuses that together operate the biggest network of trauma centers in Pennsylvania. With more than 300 outpatient sites and annual net revenue of $3 billion, the Network's service area includes 11 counties: Lehigh, Northampton, Berks, Bucks, Carbon, Montgomery, Monroe, Schuylkill and Luzerne counties in Pennsylvania and Warren and Hunterdon counties in New Jersey.

Dedicated to advancing medical education, St. Luke's is the preeminent teaching hospital in central-eastern Pennsylvania. In partnership with Temple University, the Network established the Lehigh Valley's first and only four-year medical school campus. It also operates the nation's longest continuously operating School of Nursing, established in 1884, and 40 fully accredited graduate medical educational programs with 419 residents and fellows. In 2022, St. Luke's, a member of the Children's Hospital Association, opened the Lehigh Valley's first and only free-standing facility dedicated entirely to kids.

St. Luke's is the only Lehigh Valley-based health care system to earn Medicare's five-star ratings (the highest for quality, efficiency and patient satisfaction. It is both a Leapfrog Group and Healthgrades Top Hospital and a Newsweek World's Best Hospital. U.S. News & World Report ranked St. Luke's #1 in the Lehigh Valley and #6 in the state. Three of IBM Watson Health's 100 Top Hospitals are St. Luke's hospitals. The Network's flagship University Hospital has earned the 100 Top Major Teaching Hospital designation from IBM Watson Health nine times total and seven years in a row, including in 2021 when it was identified as THE #1 TEACHING HOSPITAL IN THE COUNTRY. In 2021, IBM Watson Health also named St. Luke's among the 15 Top Health Systems nationally. Utilizing the Epic electronic medical record (EMR) system for both inpatient and outpatient services, the Network is a multi-year recipient of the Most Wired award recognizing the breadth of the SLUHN's information technology applications such as telehealth, online scheduling and online pricing information. St. Luke's is also recognized as one of the state's lowest cost providers.

St. Luke's year-long celebration began with employee events at St. Luke's campuses and the St. Luke's 150th Anniversary Celebration at Coca-Cola Park May 13.

A special 150th Anniversary Health Now episode will air on WFMZ Channel 69 at 6:30 p.m. May 30.

kmcaldonald@tnonline.com

Freedom senior Alex Heidemann captured three gold medals, Liberty senior Josh Farrell earned one gold, and six more Bethlehem competitors were medal winners at the East Penn Conference Track and Field Championships last Tuesday and Wednesday at Whitehall High School.

Heidemann's first gold medal came on Tuesday in the 3200 meter run.

"This was a nice cherry-on-top to win this. I wanted to win with the least amount of energy expended, and for me, that strategy would be to sit and kick, which is what I did. I tucked in between the two Parkland kids. I'm feeling good. I'm excited for tomorrow. I'm really focused on the 800 because I think there's gonna be some good competition there," said Heidemann, who pulled away from the pack on the second-to-last lap. "It feels good. Definitely got some momentum for tomorrow."

Heidemann won the 1600 meter run in 4:23.90 on Wednesday, three hours prior to winning the 800 meter run in 1:54.77.

level of competition and the effort I had to put in to earn it, and the general race overall, and my time. I kind of blew my expectation away with my time today," he said. Heidemann had a plan for the 800, and that was to go out with Nazareth's Jordan Gagner, but a plan doesn't necessarily eliminate the nerves that accompany competitors in big meets.

"I knew I had to stick with the plan, but 30 minutes before the race, I was psyching myself out, my stomach was bothering me, but I focused up and got to the line, and the gun went off and I just forgot everything and ran. The extra rest is a lifesaver, but it only goes so far,"

Heidemann explained. "I knew everyone was around two minutes, and no one had broken two, so I was like, if I'm fresh, I think I can win this race pretty comfortably, but with races prior to this, I knew it would be more of a battle. I got out good, opened my stride in the first 200. Nazareth shot out like a gun and I crept up on him, and I was right with him. I got to the 400, and I was like, I'm feeling good, I'm gonna go and see what I can do."

Liberty's Farrell and Bethlehem Catholic's Kensley Jossil provided stiff competition for each other in the 400 meter run, won by Farrell in 49.46.

"On the backstretch, Jossil pushed me a little bit. It was just him and me on the turn. I didn't really feel anybody else. Once I decided to kick, he didn't have the kick back on that last 100," said an obviously thrilled Farrell. "Finally, I waited so long. My own gold medal is definitely special. I like to go out slow in the 400 and save it for the end, but as you saw today, I went harder."

Farrell also won the silver medal in the 100 meter dash with a sprint of 11.29, and Jossil's time in the 400 was 50.27. See BOYS on Page A8

Local girls win medals

Liberty's girls track and field team produced two gold medalists, Tamia Bruce and Annika Flanigan, at the East Penn Conference Track and Field Championships in addition to three other medal performers.

Freedom captured four medals last Tuesday and Wednesday at Whitehall High School.

Flanigan took first place in pole vault, clearing 11-00.00, and Bruce won shot put with a throw of 36-02.75.

"Regardless of the outcome, I was grateful because I made it to Leagues, so it didn't matter where I ended up. I just kept my mind relaxed and then I performed my best like no one was there," said Bruce. "I was in first place from the jump."

Freedom senior Chloe Moschberger won the fourth-place shot put medal with her throw of 32-09.00.

Freedom sophomore Ava Fihlman clinched two medals, the silver in the 3200 meter run and the bronze in the 1600 meter run.

"It's pretty cool. It's my first Leagues Meet," said Fihlman. "I have a running playlist and listen to songs before I race, and then on the line, I forget about the pressure and try to have fun and just run."

Fihlman clocked 11:29.70 in the 3200 and 5:17.42 in the 1600.

Said Fihlman of the 3200 race, "Coach Bob (Thear) wanted me to stick behind the girl seeded third and running in second, but I felt like I was moving a little slower than what we had planned, so I was like, I need to move up. Then I tried to set the pace, but she was trying to stick on me, so I had to figure out what pace would be a little aggressive for her."

Also for the Patriots, Sydney Brown was the bronze medalist in the 300 meter hurdles with a time of 47.35.

"I was counting how many people were in front of me, and I was going over the last hurdle, and [a girl] tripped, and I almost stopped for a second but I kept going. I made every hurdle with a good amount of steps. I was very tired by the last 75 meters, pushing through at that point. I couldn't really feel my legs. It feels better than fourth place," Brown smiled. "I didn't think I would get it, but I did."

Liberty's Brooke Rawls placed second in triple jump with a leap of 37-00.50, and Bianca Justance, also for the Hurricanes, placed fourth in the same event, reaching 35-00.50.

Hurricane senior Brylee Tereska took the second spot on the awards podium after throwing 127-03 in javelin.

"Technique was on my side today, and speed, not so much. It could have been a lot faster, but we're also competing on grass," she said. "I was feeling good and the weather made a huge difference. It was a nice day, and we lucked out. My senior year, I'm glad I medaled."

Hawks top Stroudsburg; Pates fall

BY KATIE MCDONALD
kmcaldonald@tnonline.com

It's been a few years since Bethlehem Catholic's softball team has qualified for the East Penn Conference Tournament, which has the Golden Hawks on a heightened level of excitement after knocking out their first opponent Stroudsburg, 2-0, in their EPC quarterfinal contest last Thursday at Becahi.

"I feel like we're thriving in it this year and up for the challenge," said winning pitcher Emma Bond, who threw eight strikeouts on Thursday.

Becahi and Stroudsburg last met on April 23 when the Mounties prevailed, 6-5, on Shiloh

Wilson's walk-off single. "We basically told ourselves not to go in, thinking about what happened in that game, and make sure we win this one," said Becahi second baseman Hailley Pyle, whose two-run double provided the only scoring in the game. "I just wanted to rip something down and in my zone, something I knew I could crush."

With two outs in the bottom of the third inning, Jordan Merklin reached first base on a dropped fly ball. Leah Chladny singled, putting Merklin in scoring position for Pyle's hit. Stroudsburg had runners on first and third with no outs in the top of the fourth inning, but Bond got the Mounties on a pop-up, a strikeout, and a grounder.

"It was kind of scary, and I'm pretty sure their four batter was up and she hit a really far foul ball, so it got everybody a little tense, but we got her to pop out, and I think that got an energy switch for us," Bond said. "Curveball was working really good, getting a lot of people outside."

Becahi coach Dave King, filling in for head coach Rich Mazza who's recuperating from a car accident last month, called Bond's performance in the circle awesome.

"It's just nice to keep playing," King added. "We've gotten into that habit now of close games where, earlier in the season we were putting up 10, 12, 14 runs a game. Now we're down to two, three, four, but these are the games you have to win to keep going. The pitching's just getting better."

Bond faced just three batters in the fifth inning, and Angelina Iovino's catch in left field ended the game.

Becahi will have taken on Northampton in an EPC semifinal/vengeance contest on Tuesday after Press deadlines.

Nazareth was one of the toughest opponents Liberty saw on the diamond this year and now both teams hit on a collision course in Tuesday's East Penn Conference baseball semifinals.

The result was past Press deadlines, but it was certainly one game where all eyes were the doubleheader nightcap.

Liberty's only loss of the season came against Nazareth (15-6) in the second game of the season, 8-3. The team's second encounter resulted in a 1-0 victory for the Hurricanes (20-1).

"Nazareth was one of the toughest teams we saw," said head coach Andy Pitsilos. "They have two very good pitchers and they are an overall good team."

With Monday's postponement of the semifinal round due to rain, it gave both teams an extra day of rest, something Pitsilos wasn't sure would help his team.

"The extra day actually hurts us," he said. "These games are spaced so that number one pitchers can come back for game two. This just gives their number one another day of rest."

After going 15-1 in regular season league play the past two years, Liberty now searches for some hardware after losing to Pleasant Valley in last year's semifinals.

The 'Canes needed to go to extra innings in their EPC quarterfinal matchup to scrape together a 2-1 win over Pocono East to register their 19th straight win.

Jacob Rivera's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the eighth scored Ayden Zabala to push Liberty into the final four.

With Parkland and Emmaus in the other semifinal matchup, Liberty hopes they can get a crack at either of them in Thursday's championship contest back at DeSales.

Pates open districts with a road contest

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tntonline.com

The District 11 3A volleyball tournament gets underway this week and Freedom will be participating in Thursday's opening round of action.

The fourth-seeded Patriots will hit the road to Emmaus for a 6 p.m. encounter with the fifth-seeded Green Hornets in a quarterfinal matchup. The winner gets top-seeded Parkland in next week's semifinals. Freedom lost to Emmaus in four games earlier this season and were swept by Parkland in the EPC tournament.

The bottom of the bracket should provide plenty of action as well, as third-seeded Whitehall hosts sixth-seeded Easton on Thursday (6 p.m.) in one of the quarters, while second-seeded Northampton welcomes seventh-seeded Nazareth at 5:30 p.m.

Semifinals will take place on May 24 at 5:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. and finals are slated for May 26. Sites for both dates are not finalized at the moment.

FHS lacrosse teams set

BY PETER CAR
pcar@tntonline.com

Freedom's boys and girls lacrosse programs hope that this spring can continue their rise in the sport, as they venture to the District 11 tournaments this week.

The boys are eyeing a trip to the finals when they open quarterfinal action Thursday night at 7 p.m. against Emmaus at home in a four-five matchup.

Freedom (14-4) defeated Emmaus 10-8 in their only encounter this season, as the winner of Thursday's showdown gets a meeting with top-seeded Delaware Valley in next Tuesday's semifinals.

The bottom of the bracket has third-seeded Parkland open play on Thursday against sixth-seeded Nazareth at 4 p.m. with the winner taking on EPC runner-up and second-seeded Easton next Tuesday.

Emmaus was last year's District 11 3A champion and ousted Freedom in the semifinals.

On the girls side, the Pates open the tournament Thursday at 4 p.m. at home against Parkland in a four-five matchup.

The Pates lost to the Trojans 10-7 earlier this season, but hope to reverse that this time around with a date against top-seeded Emmaus on the line next Monday.

The other side of the bracket features EPC champion Pleasant Valley hosting Delaware Valley in a three-six matchup with the winner taking on second-seeded Easton.

Freedom (11-5) made their first-ever run to the district finals last season and hope they can find some of that magic for a repeat trip.

Silver medals were also awarded to Raymon Deschamps for finishing the 110 hurdles in 16.07 and Damaurian Jones-Golson for reach-Hurricane teammate Joseph Barnes placed fourth in high jump with 5-11.00.

Crystal Smith of Palmerton was the first of four winners of the Lehigh Valley Press and Times News IronPigs Token Collect Game. Smith collected on their prize Friday night when the IronPigs hosted the Buffalo Bisons, the Triple-A affiliate of the Toronto Blue Jays at Coca-Cola Park.

The prize package included four game tickets, a parking pass, an on-field photo opportunity with IronPigs mascots FeFe and Ferrous and the opportunity for one member of the family to throw out a ceremonial first pitch prior to the game. A package of four giveaway items featuring a replica jersey and rally towel was also included in the package that Smith received.

Unfortunately, Lehigh Valley lost 3-2 in an exciting extra inning game against one of the top teams in the International League's East Division. Former and future Phillies such as Matt Vierling, Darick Hall and Yairo Munoz played in the game, while Buffalo rolled out top prospect Gabriel Moreno and major leaguer Cavan Biggio, who is with Buffalo on an injury rehab assignment.

The contest was conducted over three weeks as readers collected tokens - one running in each newspaper per week - and placed them on a special game board provided in the Times News and all Lehigh Valley Press newspapers. The tokens included photos of Ferrous, FeFe and the entrance to Coca-Cola Park.

If you missed out on this opportunity, the contest will be repeated throughout the season. Watch for the special game board and tokens to appear in upcoming editions of the Times News and all Lehigh Valley Press newspapers.

Smoke Alarms at Home

Smoke alarms are a key part of a home fire escape plan. When there is a fire, smoke spreads fast. Working smoke alarms give you early warning so you can get outside quickly.

SAFETY FIRST

- Install smoke alarms in every bedroom. They should also be outside each sleeping area and on every level of the home. Install alarms in the basement.
- Test all smoke alarms at least once a month.
- Current alarms on the market employ different types of technology including multi-sensing, which could include smoke and carbon monoxide combined.
- Today’s smoke alarms will be more technologically advanced to respond to a multitude of fire conditions.
- A smoke alarm should be on the ceiling or high on a wall. Keep smoke alarms away from the kitchen to reduce false alarms. They should be at least 10 feet (3 meters) from the stove.
- People who are hard-of-hearing or deaf can use special alarms. These alarms have strobe lights and bed shakers.
- Replace all smoke alarms when they are 10 years old.

The spirit's back

Notre Dame had its first "ND Day" in two years May 12, a day dedicated to the students, where we all participated in fun games to celebrate the end of the year with an abundance of school spirit. This was our first ND Day since Oct. 25, 2019, and we were so happy to bring the celebratory day back.

With a lot of planning and dedication, the school's Student Council brought this day to life. Each grade from freshmen to seniors volunteered a color for their class shirt, and on ND Day we all were dressed in our designated attire. Freshmen wore red; sophomores wore turquoise; juniors wore purple; and seniors wore neon orange.

Hodgskin

Unfortunately Mrs. Jaelyn Friel, our principal, was unable to run her half marathon back in April due to being sick. But now that she is back in good health, on ND day she successfully ran her 13.1 mile challenge that she missed, and at the beginning of the day the whole student body gathered in front of the building to say a prayer and cheer her on as she left the starting line to begin her difficult challenge. Students and teachers also volunteered to run alongside her for one mile each, swapping out for someone new every mile but still carrying on the motivational school spirit with her.

After Mrs. Friel began her run, the first major activity of the day was the thrilling Senior vs. Staff volleyball game, which had the school roaring with cheers and excitement as we watched our favorite classmates face off against our beloved teachers. Once the game ended, the student body enjoyed a quick snack and donut break, and then went outside to gather around the front of the building and cheer Mrs. Friel on as she crossed the finish line. Soon after, we all enjoyed our first Talent Show in two years, which featured students competing with their astonishing talents for a winning cash prize, and it ended with a surprising dance performance by our teachers.

Following the entertaining show were the class games, the activities that all of the students were waiting for. These games included pie eating, scooter races, hula hooping, a relay race to see how many layers of clothes a student could get on, and many more. After winners of each grade were declared, we all sat down for lunch and watched Notre Dame's famous Powder Puff game, where the junior girls and the senior girls played each other in football, all coached by none other than the actual football players themselves.

This day had been long awaited by the entire student body, and we are all so glad to finally bring it back and participate in this fun day dedicated to our school and our students. It was a great day to be a Crusader.

Local students get their hands dirty

Special to the Bethlehem Press

The Northampton County Conservation District held its annual Envirothon competition April 21. This year's event was held live and outdoors at Louise Moore County Park. COVID-19 affected the 2020 event, causing it to be canceled, and 2021 was hybrid/on line. Each team was given materials and objectives to study in advance this year.

The teams are tested in five areas at the competition: Wildlife, Forestry, Soils & Land Use, Aquatic Ecology and a current environmental issue (this year's topic was "Waste to Resources"). Incorporating STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) principles, experiential learning, critical thinking and hands-on, outdoor field experiences, the Envirothon fosters student learning in each area as well as the spirit of competition, sportsmanship and leadership.

Friendly competitors from Freedom HS "Black and Gold team" members commiserate over lunch while waiting for the final results of the days Envirothon.

Zrinski watched as students investigated and calculated their findings. Zrinski praised the "enthusiasm and knowledge that each team presented and their understanding of environmentalism."

When asked which area was the most challenging, almost unanimously all students said the Wildlife area, with Aquatic Ecology being second. Only Northampton HS "#2 team" student Brad Smith expressed ease with these topics, as he was familiar with outdoor activities such as hunting and fishing. The least challenging area arguably was the current environmental issue, this year's topic being waste to resource.

Freedom HS's "black team" student Michael Monic pointed out that "recycling has always been part of our lives, making this area easier."

Competing in this year's event were the Bangor, Freedom, Nazareth, Northampton, Pen Argyl and Saucon Valley high schools. Each team consisted of no more than five students and an advisor. Bangor, Freedom, Northampton and Nazareth each had two teams per school and Saucon Valley and PenArgyl presented one. This year Bangor HS "s'maroon team" placed first, Freedom's "black team" placed second and Bangor's "white team" placed third.

The Northampton County Envirothon started in 1998 with only four teams competing. The Northampton County Envirothon invites all 15 Northampton County high schools and home school programs to participate.

Saucon Valley HS team members Avia Weber, Claire Smith, Emma Seydlow, Amanda Dettmar, Kelly Johnson happily "dig in" while collecting soil samples at Envirothon.

'Peter Pan, The Ballet' to premiere

BY CAMILLE CAPRIGLIONE
 Special to The Press

Pirates, fairies, mermaids and the magical world of Neverland come to the stage as the Pennsylvania Youth Ballet-Ballet Guild of the Lehigh Valley presents the world premiere of "Peter Pan, The Ballet," 2 p.m. May 28, 29, Baker Hall, Zoellner Arts Center, Lehigh University, Bethlehem.

The full-length ballet, based on the classic children's novel, "Peter and Wendy," published in 1911 by Scottish author J.M. Barrie, takes the audience on a journey of adventure with beloved characters Peter Pan, Wendy Darling, Tinkerbell, Tiger Lilly and the Lost Boys. Oh, and by the way, there's also Captain Hook.

With exciting aerial flying effects, new sets and costumes, and digital backdrops, "Peter Pan" promises to awe audiences of all ages. The 90-minute performance is billed as a family-friendly, comedic ballet.

"We originally were slated to do this in May of 2020. It's one of the larger productions that we've done, other than our 'Nutcracker,'" says Pennsylvania Youth Ballet-Ballet Guild of the Lehigh Valley Artistic Director, Karen Kroninger-Knerr, who choreographed the ballet. The production was postponed because of the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic shutdown.

"I'm just so excited about this production," says Knerr. "All the sets are new. We have the whole Darling [children] bedroom scene with the big window where Peter Pan can fly in. We are doing full-flying effects by ZFX Flying Company."

Thoughtful gifts for the graduate in your life

Dear Jacquelyn, Graduation time is around the corner and I would love to purchase a meaningful, useful gift for a special grad in my life. Can you please offer some suggestions for an appropriate gift?

Dear Reader, Like clockwork, graduation season is upon us.

It is an exciting time as it exemplifies new beginnings, so naturally you want to get the perfect gift for the new grad in your life.

Whether your grad is fresh out of high school, college or entering the job market they will undoubtedly appreciate a thoughtful gift.

Here are some gift ideas that are a good starting point for some inspiration.

Cash gifts are always welcome and appreciated. Pair it with a personalized card for a heartfelt touch.

Gift cards are also great for graduates. Consider gift cards to a budget-friendly home store or local coffee shop.

As much as your graduate will appreciate cash, it may feel impersonal to you. You might want to pick a college graduation gift that's a little more personalized but still just as useful.

There are a range of traditional and practical gifts. If you are deciding on a more traditional gift, consider a nice watch, leather portfolio or personalized stationery.

Your grad might prefer a more practical gift that won't go unused such as a mini fridge, small coffee maker or a useful and stylish planner. A care package is another perfect gift to prepare grads for the transition. Pack a laundry basket full of necessities, such as laundry detergent, a throw blanket, shower caddy, or personal care items.

This is a memorable time in every grad's life. Taking the time and forethought to pick out a thoughtful gift will truly be appreciated by the new graduate.

Respectfully,
Jacquelyn

Ask family questions while you can

How well do you know your grandparents?

It may seem like a dumb question if you are lucky enough to live near grandparents and if you spend a lot of time talking with them.

But even with that scenario you may not know your grandparents as well as you think you do unless they shared their personal stories with you.

What happens far too often is that we think we know our parents and grandparents. But it isn't until they are gone forever that we realize we wish we knew more about them.

I know absolutely nothing about my grandparents' life in Italy. I wish I would have learned more when I had the chance.

I know the basic fabric of my mother's life. What I don't know is how she survived being a kid of 10 years old booted out of her home by her tyrant of a father.

I know she lived with her older sister, swapping cleaning and baby sitting services for a roof over her head. She also cleaned homes for others to pay for her school clothes.

We talked about facts like that but not about feelings. That may be fairly common in many families. I wonder now how a 10-year-old could survive that.

Parents and grandparents seldom pass along their stories from their much younger life — stories that illuminate their history as well as their character.

Many kids take parents for granted. They see parents as caregivers and rule enforcers, not as the amazing people they should get to know better.

That was brought home to me once again when I received two requests on Ancestry.com from distant cousins. They said after their mother died they realized they knew so little about her. They knew her as the mother who struggled to raise them after her husband walked out. They knew her sadness, her frequent tears and her struggles to cope. What they didn't know was the amazing accomplishments of their mother, Marie.

She was one of the most influential people in my young life.

She was captain of the cheerleading squad, May Queen and a top student in every subject. When senior awards were given out, she was named top student in math, science, language arts and music.

Sadly, she never took the college scholarship she was offered. Her boyfriend talked her into bypassing education to marry him a month after high school graduation.

When he left her for another woman, she never recovered, and her daughters saw her only as a weak woman who couldn't cope.

I was happy to share stories to show her daughters another side of their mother.

My father only went up to fifth grade before he had to quit school to work in a coal hole to help support his family after his father died. I grew up enthralled by what I called his "poor stories."

He was my hero because I knew he would do anything he had to do to provide for his family.

By the time my daughters were teenagers, my dad was no longer telling his survival stories. My grandchildren never got to know much about their special grandfather. In two generations, our family when from financial struggling to the rarefied enriched life my grandchildren know.

They have travel and successes my father never dreamed of. They know nothing about a miner's life or the little boy who had to grow up fast to help put food on the table.

For the past few years I have been acutely aware of the fact that my grandkids know little about me. They know me as the doting grandmother who traveled to be there for their concerts, special events and graduations. They know I am the last of the line, their last remaining grandparent.

But they know little about me. They don't know much about what makes me tick, to coin a phrase.

Years ago I realized when my family gets together we all have a wonderful time together. But after staying with them for 10 days when I leave I know my grandkids still don't know much about me as a person.

And I don't know the young adults they have grown into. I'm there for all of their big events, but there is so much I don't know about them.

What are their goals, their truest beliefs? What are their struggles? Where do they find their strength?

The one thing I never wanted was what I call "cardboard grandchildren." I didn't want photographs to be our only connection. But we live far apart and our worlds are far apart.

Once grandkids are young adults it's difficult to get everyone in the same place at the same time.

It's a problem many grandparents understand. They say, oh, my kids and grandkids are busy with their own lives. Yes, but the day might come when they wish they spent more time with us.

One Christmas I told my grandkids the gift I wanted from them was "presence, not presents."

I wanted a one-on-one lunch with each of them, and that's exactly what I got. It was glorious.

COVID-19 interrupted those family times, but hopefully we are gearing up to start again.

Want to give your family a precious gift? Share your stories while you still can.

Use of acupuncture for arthritis discussed

Q. I have arthritis in my knee. I'm thinking about trying acupuncture, but my friends don't agree. What do you think?

HEALTHY GEEZER
By Fred Cicetti
fred@healthygeezers.com

Several recent studies show osteoarthritis symptoms can be relieved with acupuncture. One Scandinavian study reported that 25 percent of patients canceled their plans for knee surgery after acupuncture.

About 15 million Americans have tried this needle therapy.

The World Health Organization recommends acupuncture for more than 40 conditions as diverse as asthma and nausea from chemotherapy. The Food and Drug Administration regulates acupuncture needles.

By the 3rd century B.C., the Chinese had documented a medical system that is based on qi (pronounced "chee"), a concept of vital energy that is believed to flow throughout the body.

Qi is said to regulate a person's physical, spiritual, emotional and mental balance. Advocates of Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM), say qi is affected by yin (negative energy) and yang (positive energy). When the flow of qi is disrupted and yin and yang are unbalanced, the condition leads to pain and disease, according to TCM.

Treatments that are integral to this ancient system are herbal and nutritional therapy, restorative physical exercises, meditation, acupuncture and remedial massage.

To correct the flow of qi, acupuncture uses superfine metal needles inserted into the skin at more than 2,000 "acupoints" along pathways known as "meridians." It is believed that there are 12 main meridians and eight secondary meridians. The points can also be stimulated with heated herbs, magnets, mild electrical current, manual pressure, low-frequency lasers, or even bee stings.

Most acupuncture patients feel little or no pain as the needles are inserted. Some people are energized by treatment, while others feel relaxed. Improper needle placement, movement of the patient, or a defect in the needle can cause soreness and pain during treatment.

Relatively few complications from acupuncture have been reported to the FDA. However, inadequate sterilization of needles and improper administration have led to complications. When done improperly, acupuncture can cause serious problems such as infections and punctured organs.

Western scientists don't know how acupuncture works. However, studies show that stimulating acupoints causes multiple biological responses. For example, this stimulation can prompt the release of the body's natural pain-killing endorphins.

If you are interested in acupuncture, ask your doctor about it. Health-care practitioners can be a resource for referrals to acupuncturists. More medical doctors, including neurologists, anesthesiologists and specialists in physical medicine, are becoming trained in acupuncture.

About 10,000 acupuncturists practice in the United States. Most are state-regulated. More than 4,000 doctors have completed a recognized acupuncture training program.

Look for an acupuncture practitioner who is licensed and credentialed. Check with your insurer before you start treatment to see whether acupuncture will be covered for your condition.

LVHN receives $4.5 million from state for Muhlenberg ICU, Reilly Hospital

Lehigh Valley Health Network has announced that the neonatal intensive care unit (NICU) at Lehigh Valley Reilly Children's Hospital and the intensive care unit at Lehigh Valley Hospital (LVH) - Muhlenberg will receive $4.5 million of state Redevelopment Assistance Capital Program (RACP) grants for support and expansion of capacity.

The grants were secured by state Senators Pat Browne (R-16th) and Lisa Boscola (D-18th) and state Representatives Ryan Mackenzie (R-134th) and Jeanne McNeill (R-133rd).

"Convenient access to specialized care is something the people of our communities need, expect and deserve," said Brian A. Nester, DO, MBA, President and Chief Executive Officer of LVHN. "This funding will bring life-saving care to more people, and we thank our elected officials for their partnership and support of world-class health care at LVHN."

Lehigh Valley Reilly Children's Hospital will receive $3.5 million to expand its 32-bed NICU at LVH - Cedar Crest. When the project is complete, the facility will have 46 to 50 Level IV NICU beds; negative pressure rooms, which help prevent the transmission of airborne diseases, and special procedure rooms. Expert neonatologists and nurses in the NICU provide care to vulnerable babies and ensure that each family and baby receive the highest level of care and support.

LVH - Muhlenberg will receive $1 million to add eight new ICU beds adjacent to its ICU, bringing the total to 28 beds. In September, LVH - Muhlenberg began operating as a Level II trauma center. Additional ICU beds will help get patients from the emergency department to a critical-care bed faster.

"As the Lehigh Valley continues to grow, additional demand has been placed on the region's healthcare infrastructure, making the need for capacity expansion necessary," Browne said.

"The Lehigh Valley is blessed with a tremendous network of health care systems that have been called upon in ways never imagined just 20 months ago, and they have responded," Boscola said.

Said Mackenzie, "This expansion will provide critical health care access for compromised newborns in our region." Said McNeill, "The intensive care unit cares for all types of critical-ill patients, and the added capacity will provide benefit to the entire Lehigh Valley."

The Redevelopment Assistance Capital Program is a Commonwealth grant program administered by the Office of the Budget for the acquisition and construction of regional economic, cultural, civic, recreational and historical improvement projects. RACP projects are authorized in the Redevelopment Assistance section of a Capital Budget Itemization Act, have a regional or multi-jurisdictional impact, and generate substantial increases or maintain current levels of employment, tax revenues, or other measures of economic activity.

The digital backdrops are expected to give added visual delight. Captain Hook's pirate ship rocks from side to side, and the lagoon scene has a waterfall.

"It's such a wonderful, fun story," says Knerr. "It appeals to the child in everyone. It's for anyone who never wants to grow up, which I think is all of us."

There is a cast of more than 80 professional, pre-professional and PYB-BGLV student performers. All 13 Lost Boys will be played by male student dancers.

Guest artist is David Shively-Ertas as Captain Hook.

"It's important to note that while there are orchestral versions of Peter Pan that have been created for ballet, what I've done is collated all the music using various British composers," says

Knerr. "That was quite a challenge, but fun, to make all the ideas come to fruition that I had in my head and make them match the music."

As a bonus, there will be "Adventure Through Neverland," a free event for audience members immediately following the performance. No pre-registration is required.

"The audience can visit the Darling children's bedroom and meet the cast, like Peter, Wendy, Tinkerbell and Captain Hook. They can venture throughout the theater to meet different characters."

Every ballet program will include a map of Neverland so that audiences can take photos with cast members.

"Peter Pan" is a timeless story that enchants every generation with its tale of childhood myth, danger and swashbuckling adventure.

"Plus, you have that wonderful, endearing to the Lost Boys when she quality of Wendy, who is ventures into Neverland always a mother figure, with Peter," says Knerr. "It has so many themes that speak to everybody."

The cast includes Olivia Quiros (Peter Pan), 11th grade, Allentown Central Catholic High School; Sarah Bailey (Wendy Darling), 12th grade, Lehigh Valley Charter Arts High School; Gwendolyn George (Tinkerbell), 10th grade, Northwestern Lehigh High School; Mai Hukuoka (Tinkerbell), 11th grade, Parkland High School; Zeby Fraser (John Darling), 7th grade, Broughal Middle School; Manny Fraser (Michael Darling), Second grade, Donegan Elementary School, and Kristopher and Joyce Yoder (Mr. and Mrs. Darling).

BGLV alumnae Olivia Lovell performs as Tiger Lily.

Shively-Ertas, a Bethlehem native, is a junior at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N.Y., pursuing a pure math major, comparative philosophy minor and dance performance minor. He is a member of Vassar Repertory Dance Theater and received dance training at Ballet Guild of the Lehigh Valley, where he performed in annual productions of "The Nutcracker" and spring performances. He attended The Rock School's summer intensive, Philadelphia, and the Male Dance Conference, New York City.

"Everybody needs to get out and enjoy the theater," says Knerr. "It's a great way to escape, to be put in a better mood, and be transformed to a different place. Come join us in Neverland."

the Lehigh Valley Phantoms, the American Hockey League professional team.

In accompanying a blockbuster movie, the ASO is part of a trend that symphony orchestras are in tune with.

"The Philadelphia Orchestra is beginning to do them. The New Jersey Symphony does a lot of them. And usually it's a large orchestra. You need a big venue," Allentown Symphony Music Director Conductor Diane Wittry says.

"It's very exciting for us to do something new and different like this," says Wittry in a phone interview.

"We thought it would be a good way to reach out to a new demographic and let the Lehigh Valley know that the Allentown Symphony has something for everyone," Wittry says.

"It started to become a thing and then it became really popular. There are a lot of films that have been made available for live orchestra and film," says Loh in a phone interview.

"The first few that I did were 'The Wizard of Oz' and 'Singing in the Rain.'

"I've done about 10 films and some of them multiple times. In the summer, particularly, I've come to do a lot of these.

"I've done a lot of John Williams. His music is one of the reasons that I love the sound of an orchestra. Maybe I can attribute my interest in being a conductor to how influential film soundtracks were for me in my life.

"This will be the second time I've conducted 'New Hope.' The film was enormously popular. It won an Academy Award for original score for John Williams. It was the first 'Star Wars' film and it began a whole universe for so many people."

This year, Loh conducts three orchestras accompanying movies, including the ASO. He conducted "Star Wars:

Return of the Jedi" with the Baltimore Symphony, May 12, 13, 14. He conducts "ET" with the Dallas Symphony in September.

"It's a small percentage of what I do, but it takes a long time to prepare. I conduct maybe 45 weeks per year," Loh says.

Loh is active as a guest conductor, including with the Seattle Symphony, San Diego Symphony and the National (Washington D.C.), Indianapolis, Knoxville, Florida, Dallas, Colorado, Charleston (S.C.), Detroit, Malaysia and Daejeon (South Korea) orchestras. In summer 2016, Loh made his debut at Tanglewood, conducting Shostakovich's 5th Symphony with the Boston University Tanglewood Institute Young Artists Orchestra.

Loh has done repeat performances with Chris Botti and Idina Menzel. He has assisted John Williams on multiple occasions and conducted numerous sold-out John Williams tribute concerts.

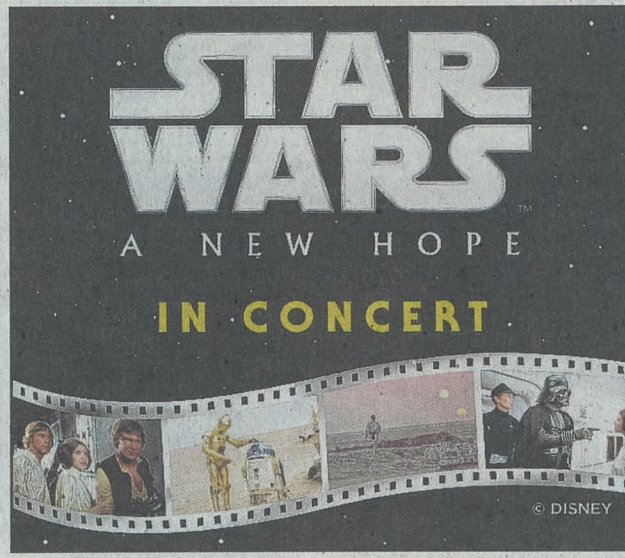

Loh concluded his 12-year tenure as Music Director of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Philharmonic, Hazleton-Wilkes-Barre, in 2017. Loh's decade-plus association with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra includes conducting the annual pops and other programs.

Loh received an Artist Diploma in Orchestral Conducting from Yale University, a Masters in Choral Conducting from Indiana University and a BA and Certificate of Management Studies from the University of Rochester.

His conducting of concerts synchronizing live orchestral music with film and has included "Star Wars Episodes IV & V," "The Nightmare Before Christmas," "Jaws," "Pixar in Concert," "Disney in Concert" and "Casablanca."

The Walt Disney Company, which purchased Lucasfilm from George Lucas in 2012, controls the rights to the "Star Wars" films and franchise.

"There's a list of ap-

CONTRIBUTED IMAGE THE WALT DISNEY COMPANY

proved conductors. To ensure success, they select from that list. And I'm on that list," says Loh.

Orchestra musicians receive the score for the movie soundtrack in advance of the concert.

"They have the music. We have three rehearsals. We work through this enormously difficult music and are ready to play it in one take."

There are two rehearsals the day before and one rehearsal the day of the PPL Center concert.

"It is a performance of the music. That's what makes it special: People coming to hear this music performed live.

"The sound person mikes the orchestra and mixes it. If you are used to watching the movie, the music is going to be a bit more prominent [for the concert]. And there are subtitles for people who haven't memorized the film.

"They remove all of the music and retain all of the sound effects and all of the dialogue. The orchestra plays all of the music live.

"To have an orchestra playing the music live is such a special experience. For 'Star Wars' fans, to see a performance of 'Star Wars' feels a little like going to see the film for the first time in 1977. It's a communal feeling, being in the same room with so many other 'Star Wars' fans, many in costume.

"There's a whole group that goes around the state [Pennsylvania].

"Ordinary people like me, I would grab my robe and take my lightsaber." The lightsaber is a weapon of the Jedi in "Star Wars."

"Will you conduct with a lightsaber?" I ask Loh.

"I will not. I will wear a simple black suit. The orchestra won't be distracting. Nobody in the orchestra will be dressing up because they have to concentrate so much on the playing. Maybe there will be 'Star Wars' cuff links or Princess Leia hair buns.

"I have to conduct the music the same way that John Williams did on the original.

"I have in front of me a screen. The film is on that screen. There are actually punches and streamers. In the early days, they actually punched holes in the film. The streamer is a white bar, or green or yellow or red. As soon as it hits the right side, there's a flash so I know it's coming.

"They modified the film for me so that I can see where the orchestra needs to line up. I additionally have a click in my ear. One ear bud. The orchestra doesn't have that click. They just watch me.

"I use all of these tools, the punch hole, the streamer, the click in my ear, the sheet music.

"I'm basically conducting and I have all of these things that are helping me guide the performance. It's a lot different from conducting a Beethoven symphony where you have a lot of freedom.

"The film plays at a very fixed rate. And we have to be exactly with it. It's a challenge, but I love it. It's really gratifying."

A reviewer, David Williams, of the Charleston Gazette-Mail, wrote about Loh conducting the West Virginia Symphony performance of John Williams' music for Steven Spielberg's "Jurassic Park".

"The orchestra's new conductor, Lawrence Loh, navigated the score with ease, keeping the orchestra in seemingly perfect coordination with the action on the screen. The screen itself was large and the projection was startlingly vivid. It even had English subtitles which helped in following the dialogue, since the goal was to keep the orchestra in prominence (This doesn't happen in the theatrical version of movies. The underscore gets cut back so no dialogue is covered up.)"

Loh's family, including his wife and sons, are "Star Wars" fans. They've been watching "The Mandalorian," now in Season 2, on Disney+.

Loh expects to greet "Star Wars" fans after the PPL Center concert.

"People go anywhere as a group with their 'Star Wars' regalia."

Loh recalls a close encounter of the "Star Wars" kind:

"This person looked like one of The Mandalorian and pulled a thing from his chest and gave it to me. It was like a pad, a piece of metal."

Loh, born in southern California of Korean parentage, was raised in Carlisle, Cumberland County.

Loh and his family visited Disney World in 2020, just before the coronavirus (COVID-19) shutdown. "I got to see everything that they have going on there. It's like A going-to-the-Mother Ship feeling.

"My whole family is into 'Star Wars.' My son made a lightsaber [at Savi's Workshop at Star Wars: Galaxy's Edge at Disney's Hollywood Studio at Disney World].

"We've been into 'Star Wars' my kids' entire lives. When we went to Disney we were all excited to go because we wanted to see all the new attractions."

Loh, 52, and his wife, Jennifer, have a daughter, Hilary, 16, and son, Charlie, 18, a freshman at Brown University, majoring in chemistry.

"Star Wars: A New Hope In Concert," to have been presented two years ago at PPL Center, Allentown, was postponed because of the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic shutdown. Tickets for the originally-scheduled concert will be honored.

Wittry said that rescheduling the concert was a challenge.

"The first thing was scheduling the PPL Center, and where we were with the pandemic, and Lawrence's schedule, and then we basically just rehired the orchestra," says Wittry.

"I'm actually going to go by the rehearsals and see how it all works and to make sure we don't have any problems.

"Because the brass parts are very tough, we usually hire an extra brass player. It calls for six horns, French horns. It's the John Williams Sound."

The "John Williams Sound" will also be heard in "The Music Of John Williams," 7:30 p.m. May 8, 2023, Miller Symphony Hall, Allentown, as part of the ASO 2022-'23 Pops Series. Tickets are on sale for the 2022-'23 ASO season.

Upcoming are three milestone anniversary seasons: the 25th anniversary, Schadt Competition, 2022-'23; 125th anniversary, Miller Symphony Hall, 2024-'25, and 75th anniversary, Allentown Symphony Orchestra, 2025-'26.

"That's kind of our focus, how to celebrate those anniversaries," says Wittry.

critique, each student writes an original one-act play to be considered for performance in the festival.

More than 125 plays were submitted. Five scripts of five students from five schools were chosen for staging: "The Perfectly Perfect Not So Perfect Paisley" by Anna Zsilavec, Spring Garden Elementary; "The Young Playwrights!" by Sophia Emarie Colon, Marvine Elementary; "Starr is Who You Are" by Emmy Dandridge, Governor Wolf Elementary; "The Bad Bully" by Jordan Colon, Fountain Hill Elementary, and "Cloud's Secrets" by Juliet Broskey, Buchanan Elementary.

The plays are directed by Touchstone's ensemble and guest directors, and performed by Touchstone actors, community performers and students from area schools.

Scenes from five runner-up plays will be performed: "School Lunch Trading Nightmare" by Alexander Koch, Nitschmann Middle School; "Princess in the Warrior Clothes" by Mariah Marie Randolph, Lincoln Elementary; "The Bat Story" by Julius Avila, Donegan Elementary; "Dragon Gates" by Avery Pierce, Farmersville Elementary, and "Untitled" by Raiden Reyes, Casa Guadalupe Center.

"The Young Playwrights' Festival gives the Lehigh Valley a rare opportunity: the chance to look deep into the hearts and minds of our youngest artists," says Mary Wright, Touchstone Education Director.

"The combination of the kids' imaginations and Touchstone's own creates a one-of-a-kind evening of theater."

Wright says the plays often include light-hearted elements like talking animals, princesses and imaginary worlds, but also explore universal themes of love, resilience, importance of family and bravery in the face of adversity, and "celebrate the whimsy, wit and wisdom of our youth."

There's a pre-show performance by Dave Fry and a "red carpet" at 7 p.m.

The wearing of face masks is optional. Socially-distanced seating is available. The festival will be live-streamed.

"Matilda" at PYT: Pennsylvania Youth Theatre presents "Matilda the Musical," May 19-22, Diamond Theater, Zoellner Arts Center, Lehigh University, Bethlehem.

It's the first PYT production in 2 1/2 years, PYT Managing Director Valerie Reinardt says. PYT in-person performances were suspended because of the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic shutdown.

"Matilda the Musical" is billed as a funny, heart-breaking and inspiring story about the anarchy of childhood, the power of imagination and a girl who won't let being "little" stop her from putting an unjust world right.

Based on the 1988 children's novel written by beloved author Roald Dahl, "Matilda the Musical" has a book by Dennis Kelly and music by Tim Minchin. The show opened on Broadway in 2013 and received five

Tony Awards. Songs include "When I Grow Up" and "Revolting Children."

The show is double-cast with 60 students age 6 to 18.

Leads are Anya Ferris, Maylin Parlett (Matilda); Sofia Eckman, Bella Talada (Miss Honey), and Brewer Cort, Haldon Kerzner (Miss Trunchbull).

PYT Artistic Director Jill Dunn Jones directs. Former PYT student Dara Donaher is choreographer. Matthew Asti is music director.

The wearing of face masks is optional. Socially-distanced seating is available.

Performances are 6 p.m. May 19, 7 p.m. May 20 and 1 and 5 p.m. May 21 and 22.
