

Sinnott, Francis A.

RATED AS "SPECIALIST"

A trained "specialist" in the U. S. Navy is Francis A. Sinnott, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sinnott, Bethlehem R. D. 1, who was graduated today from the Naval Training School for machinists at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn., and promoted to the rating of fireman, second class. He is now waiting for assignment to active duty at sea, or to some naval shore station.

Special aptitude for this type of work was shown by the Bluejacket while in naval recruit training. In school he received courses in the operation, maintenance and repair of main and auxiliary engines, drainage systems, evaporators and pumps.

September 9, 1943