

Jones, Pershing V.

First Lieutenant

Mrs. Pershing V. Jones, the former Marjorie King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. King, 1333 Easton Avenue, Bethlehem, Texas, has returned from Camp Bowie, Texas, with the news of the promotion of her husband from the rank of second to first lieutenant. Mrs. Jones had been with her husband since last November, shortly after he was graduated from Chemical Warfare Officer Candidate School at Edgewood Arsenal.

Lieut. Jones is now engaged in maneuvers "somewhere in Louisiana". He entered the service June 28, 1941, shortly after graduation at Lafayette College and was assigned to the Coast Artillery. He transferred to the Chemical Warfare when he became an officer candidate and was graduated October 17, 1942 and commissioned a second lieutenant, being transferred from Edgewood Arsenal to Camp Bowie, Mrs. Jones joined him there in November and remained until last week, when he went to the maneuver area.

The young officer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jones, 116 North Thirteenth Street, Easton. He and the former Miss King were married in Galveston, Texas, October 16, 1941.

Norman A. Rice, husband of Mrs. Jones' sister, Mildred, is now a corporal "somewhere in India", Mrs. Rice has learned. Rice is a Northampton man.
