

Lang, Jerome R.

J. R. Lang Is Named Officer Candidate

Jerome R. Lang, petty officer, second class, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lang, of 1328 West Union Boulevard, has received word from the Bureau of Naval Personnel that he has been appointed an officer candidate for the Navy's college training program.

He has been assigned to Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., where, after a period of instruction, he will be commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve. Lang is one of 67 men chosen in competitive examination from the Third Naval District for this assignment.

Lang enlisted in the Navy in April, 1942, and after two months training period at Great Lakes, was attached to the Office of the Commandant, Third Naval District, New York City, where he has served since.

June 17, 1943