

Belgrasch, Peter V.

Sgt. Belgrasch Home From Alaskan Base

Sgt. Peter V. Belgrasch spent the past six days with his wife and children at 517 Itaska St., after having flown from Ladd Field, Alaska, to Washington, D. C. for a tour of temporary duty.

Upon return to his Army Air Force base he will assume new duties as technical inspector.

The sergeant served in China-Burma-India during World War II, receiving four battle stars. He is a graduate of three Army Air Force technical schools and was previously employed at Bethlehem Steel Company's No. 1 Open Hearth as a second helper.
